Captain Found Dead In Cabin

Suez, Sept. 7.—Captain Caputo of the Italian ship, Empire Rani, of 7,675 tons, was found dead in his cabin, hanging by the neck from a lifebelt rope, the police stated after the ship docked here last night.

He left an unsigned letter saying that he had "enough of life."

The police, who boarded the Empire Rani after a message from the ship saying the captain was killed at sea in a mutiny, announced that he committed suicide on September 3 before the ship left Aden for Suez.—Reuter.

MADAME CHIANG RETURNING

New York, Sept. 8.—The New York Journal, American, said today that Madame Chiang Kai-shek is returning to China next month to stand by her husband.

In an interview with reporter, Madame Chiang was quoted as saying: "I am flying back next month. I believe the Generalissimo needs me."

Asked if she would go to the fighting front with him, she replied: "I will go wherever he goes."

The news story also quoted her as saying: "I shall also carry home the message that China has many friends in America who would like to help her in her hour of need."—Associated Press.

THE WINDSORS GO ON TOUR

Nice, Sept. 7.—The Duke and Duchess of Windsor today left their Cap d'Antibes residence, Chateau De La Grot, by road for Italy.

After spending two months on the French Riviera, the Duke and Duchess plan to spend three days at Monte Carlo, Italian health resort, and then to have a three-week cruise in the Mediterranean.

Later they will return to Paris through Switzerland.—Reuter.

3-Power Experts Open Talks On Dollar Shortage

Washington, Sept. 7.—Top administrative and financial Ministers of the United States, Britain and Canada conferred in closed session for one hour and four minutes at the State Department here today, opening their economic talks on the dollar shortage within the Sterling Area.

After the session, Mr. John Snyder, the United States Secretary of the Treasury, told a press conference that the Ministers would meet again at 3 p.m. (local time).

The meeting, he said, defined the primary purpose of the three-power conference as being to exchange views concerning Britain's dollar earning problem in the light of adjustment to declining United States assistance.

He said that the discussions would be kept fluid; the session today had not adopted any formal agenda.

He added that no limitation or closing date had been imposed on the talks. They would probably continue through next week-end.

"It is recognised that this problem involves great difficulties not susceptible of quick and easy solution," he said.

The United States expects the problem to be considered within the existing framework of the United States' foreign economic policy, as expressed in such measures as the reciprocal trade programme, the International Trade Organisation, the European Recovery Programme and the institutions established at Bretton Woods.—Reuter.

LONG-TERM PLANS

London, Sept. 7.—The dollar train, starting in Washington today, will disclose that Britain's recovery plans include long-term colonial development schemes involving an ultimate cost of over £250,000,000.—Informed quarters here said today.

Development of the undeveloped areas of the world is the basis of the famous "Fourth Point" of President Truman's inaugural address.

American overseas investment, as a means of raising the standard of life in undeveloped territories and assisting general economic recovery, is a main theme to be considered by the Washington conference.

British experts have prepared a voluminous dossier of all the short and long-term projects

CHAKSANG SETTLES IN WATER

The steamer Chaksang, which caught fire in harbour last night after an explosion, has settled in the water, and only her funnel is visible.

Of the ship's crew of 66, only 30 survivors have been accounted for early this morning. Two of these were slightly injured, and were sent to the Kowloon Hospital for treatment.

The owners of the ship, the Indo-China Steam Navigation Co., Ltd., are still unable to give any information as to the cause of the explosion.

BOAC TO USE SKYMASTER

Alternative arrangements have been made to carry on BOAC scheduled flights, starting next Tuesday, until the grounded Argonauts are put back into service.

BOAC's local office announced this morning that DC-4 Skymaster aircraft are being chartered from Qantas Airways, and all published schedules will be resumed as from next Tuesday.

Foreign Relations Committee has not called MacArthur before Field Marshal Mantein's 11th Army. The depositions, which were made by Karl Braune and Helmut Schubert, now awaiting execution at Landsberg with the other members of Task Force D, told how their commander, Erich Ohlendorf, said that he could not carry out the order, which they thought came from Mantein, because of lack of programming.

Wherry then said he was informed that Gen. MacArthur made regular military reports on China, but Connally said he did not know about them and had not seen them. Connally sarcastically accused Wherry of having "wrapped up the secrets of MacArthur in his bosom," refusing to let the Senate have them.

When Wherry accused the Administration of telling Gen. MacArthur what to say when the General turned down an invitation to testify before the Senate committee, Connally snapped: "That's unworthy of the Senator from Nebraska" to say there was an effort to fix the General's answer.

During his verbal fight with Wherry, Connally said the Chinese Communists had been helped to victory through American arms sent to the Nationalist Government, but Wherry argued they could have been a part of lend-lease aid given to Russia during the war.

WAITS AND WAITS

"Here," said Connally, "is a Senator whose heart is on fire for China and he has not even talked to the nation's top authority on the subject."

Wherry said since the Defense Secretary thought it essential for the Chiefs of Staff to visit the Atlantic Pact nations they should visit the Far East also.

"Even the State Department waits and waits, at least until the Defense Department can be prepared and the whole area won't go by board," Wherry said.

He said that in spite of the proposed arms bill reaches the Senate floor, Connally accused him of planning a filibuster.

Wherry replied: "I have

Secrets On Cafe Wall

George Bomze, proprietor of the "400" restaurant in Washington, inspects a high-altitude aerial photo of Washington on the walls of his cafe. The Navy has labelled the photo, made from a twin-jet Banshee plane at 48,846 feet, as "confidential." Bomze said he found a print of the picture in the restaurant three weeks ago and had an enlargement made for his display. (AP Wirephoto).

Bitter Exchanges In U.S. Senate Over Aid To China

Washington, Sept. 7.—Chairman Tom Connally, of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, charged today that Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek had "absconded" with $138,000,000 of his nation's treasury funds to Formosa.

Senator Connally made the charge during a furious Senate debate with Republican Senators Kenneth Wherry and William Knowland, who are seeking his seat in the Senate.

Foreign Relations Committee has not called MacArthur before Field Marshal Mantein's 11th Army. The depositions, which were made by Karl Braune and Helmut Schubert, now awaiting execution at Landsberg with the other members of Task Force D, told how their commander, Erich Ohlendorf, said that he could not carry out the order, which they thought came from Mantein, because of lack of programming.

AMPLE DISCUSSION

Knowland promised an "ample discussion" of United States Far Eastern policy when his bill amending the proposed arms bill reaches the Senate floor, and Connally accused him of planning a filibuster.

Typhoon Threat Passes South Of Hongkong

SHIP DRIVEN AROUND; LITTLE SERIOUS DAMAGE

The centre of the typhoon passed south of Hongkong at 4 o'clock this morning, moving westwards at a speed of 15 knots. No. 9 signal was lowered early this morning, being replaced by No. 8, which was taken down at 9 a.m. There is no further danger to the Colony, but the Observatory states rain will continue during the day.

Grim Tale Of Mass Murder In Crimea

Hamburg, Sept. 7.—Two officers of Hitler's extermination squad, Task Force D, now under sentence of death, told a story of mass murder in written deposition today before the British War Crimes court here trying Field Marshal Fritz Von Manstein.

Later during the night, however, Amethyst was assisted out to a buoy in harbour by two tugs. She appeared to be riding out the gale without ill effects.

The Happy Valley district was partially flooded this morning, while in Kowloon, water rushing down from the hills behind Kowloon Tong covered a considerable length of Waterloo Road.

CARS ABANDONED

A big tree at the corner of Waterloo Road and Happy Valley was uprooted and was lying half-way across the road.

Hoards and signboards in many parts of the Colony were blown down, and several Neon signs in the city were smashed.

A contractor's hut at the junction of Island Road and Repulse Bay Road was blown across the road, causing an obstruction. Several motor cars were abandoned at this spot.

A number of bathing sheds in South Bay and Middle Bay were also damaged by the typhoon.

TRANSPORT HOLD-UPS

Transportation services were largely interrupted by the big blow.

Cross-harbour ferry services were stopped this morning. At noon, it was announced that there was a likelihood of a restricted service being resumed about 1 p.m.

The China Motor Bus put on a curtailed service on Queen's Road and Happy Valley routes at 7.30 a.m. and by 9.30 a.m. the University, Tafko and Queen Mary services were resumed. Buses for Aberdeen and Stanley were suspended.

Kowloon buses started service at 8.45 a.m. on all regular routes in the city area. Services to the New Territories were suspended.

ALL MALES SHOT

Braune's deposition said that Mantein ordered that when the Germans recaptured the town of Eupatoria, in the Crimea, all the male inhabitants should be shot as reprisals for the earlier killing by Franc Ticeurs of 40 to 50 badly wounded Germans.

In all, 1,184 were shot in anti-tank ditches.

Schubert's deposition said that 80 to 100 decorations were awarded to members of Task Force D by the Army. He was Adjutant to the commander, and Mantein obtained the award of an Iron Cross, Second Class, for him after he had earlier been turned down six times.—Reuter.

Brabazon Makes Second Flight

Bristol, Sept. 7.—Britain's Brabazon, the world's largest civil land plane, made a two and one-half hour flight this morning.

The giant 130-ton airliner, which made its maiden flight last Sunday, made a perfect 500-yard landing on the mile and a half runway successfully.

Officials of the Bristol Aeroplane Company, which built the Brabazon for the British Overseas Airways Corporation, described today's flight as "perfectly satisfactory."

A spokesman said the crew amused themselves by balancing three-penny bits (octagonal coins) on edge at various points while the plane during the flight.—Associated Press.

WOMANSENSE

GOOD PSYCHOLOGY IS NEEDED HERE

By Garry Cleveland Myers, Ph.D.

THE cause of most bed-wetting is psychological.

If your child over four or five doesn't usually sleep dry all night, you would be wise to have him given a thorough physical check-up by your physician. This is highly important, as there could be very serious organic causes which only the skilled physician knows how to correct.

No Physical Causes

But in most bed-wetting cases the physician finds no physical causes, when you can assume that psychological factors are at the root of the problem, that there are some emotional reasons for the bed-wetting.

Of course, these emotional factors can be so complicated as not to be easily analysed by you and the older the bed-wetting child the more far-reaching, powerful and stubborn these emotional factors are, as a rule. You only need to read clinical reports by medical experts of emotional cases of men in the armed forces of World War II, in order to sense the prevalence of emotional problems connected with bed-wetting in youths and adults.

Feels Insecure

The child (five, eight or fourteen) who is a bed-wetter may feel insecure within his family or among others of his age outside his family, or both. He may be jumpy and jittery. Many fears and anxieties may beset him. He may suppose he is not loved at home or loved as much as a brother or sister.

More often than not he feels ashamed that he wet the bed, especially if he has been scolded, punished or ashamed by his parents, or ridiculed by others, for his bed-wetting.

Then your best method will be to set the stage so he will have some successes to be celebrated. How? Well, by setting a clock, you can get the child to the toilet often enough to keep him dry all night, during enough nights to prove to him there can be success. By continuing this clock-help, you might, after several successful nights, lengthen the intervals gradually. Better still, if the child has his own clock and with it calls himself up often enough to sleep dry. Of course, you again must so set the stage that he will want to do this and to take more and more responsibility for himself.

Right Psychology

Such a programme will rarely, if ever, work unless you provide the right psychology, right family relationships, right feelings and attitudes between him and you parents in general and in relation to his bed-wetting in particular.

While a few parents might well choose to start right away with the clock-help, most wiser ones will prefer a slower and more sure-of-emotional-success method. After assuring the child that they will never again shame, scold or punish him for wetting the bed and that they will protect him from embarrassment over the matter, having armoured his bed with a rubber sheet, the father and mother will agree with each other to work on the problem at long range and be happy if they see some gains on occasional nights after several weeks or months.

These parents will often talk together over how this child may feel toward them and other members of the family and other persons he mingles with most often; over what worries and fears and anxieties he may have and how they might help reduce such in him. They will consider ways of helping him enjoy more achievements at work and play, feel more worthwhile as a person, especially in the family fun and conversation. These parents might decide to talk with a psychologist or family counsellor over these matters. Often we parents are too enmeshed emotionally to be able, without some expert help, to think objectively about such problems.

Needs Time

The greatest difficulty we parents usually have with any child problem is that we are looking for a kind of pill to give the child in the evening so he will wake up cured in the morning. Any problem in which emotions are involved can't be solved so quickly and the worst of it is we parents need more than a pill ourselves.

We can't so easily change, either. Indeed, we are harder to change than is the child, being so much older. We have to think and work on ourselves for days, weeks, months or years. But if we can arrive at a humane and sensible attitude and apply horse-sense psychology many such problems as our child's bed-wetting won't arise at all or will soon vanish.

SUMMER FASHIONS REVIEWED

SWIM SUITS: One-piece has the edge; functional swim suits win by a fair margin in most cities; strapless means everything except in real swimming suits, and it's a good optical point there, too; bright colours in elastic fabrics are the ones that sell; elastic nylon clicks all over.

Buyers want more waterproof swim suits at a moderate price.

CO-ORDINATED SEPARATES: In denims, a wide colour range, blue still first; in bright satin; skirts, shorts, bras, pedant pushers, shirt-like jackets are the important items—skirt and boy-shorts are best of the bunch.

SUN DRESSES: In cotton with boleros, strapless with optional strap or cap. An open-necked dress is necessary to overcome this condition.

SHORTS: Biggest volume in cotton gabardine, and denim; terry shorts a novelty hit; boy-shorts—the right type.

BEACH WRAPS: First, the shirt-jacket terry. "dry-off" and wrap-around sarong type dress—the novelty item of volume proportion; elastic-cut belled-in cotton beach coat, mid-thigh length, good after terry.

Popular request: White cotton broadcloth shirts, styled like men's, to wear as beach wraps.

COTTON SKIRTS: Full with pockets; in solid colour cottons, some textured.

Beauty & Plastic Surgery

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

PLASTIC surgery has made many advances in recent years, particularly as a result of the war, so that today more and more operations are being carried out, not only to make good the deformities due to accident, but to correct natural defects.

The materials utilised by plastic surgeons are usually those supplied by the body itself—skin, bone, fat and cartilage. Where these will not serve, it has recently been found that certain artificial metal materials can be pressed into service.

Widely Used

Cartilage is, perhaps, the most widely used tissue in plastic surgery. It is possible to store cartilage tissue for months in salt solution so that it may be employed when needed.

Bone is also employed. The bone may be cut from the hip bones and then transplanted to the area where it is needed.

Fat also is employed to build up cavities and fill out depressions. This fat may be taken from the wall of the abdomen.

If such plastic operations can not be successfully carried out to rebuild the face, structures, artificial materials are used for building the nose and ear or eye sockets. These are made of latex or what is known as vinyl (vinil) resins. These materials can be coloured—to match the flesh and are held in place with waterproof adhesive.

Defects of the nose, the upper jaw and the chin may often be filled out with tantalum steel.

What is known as tantalum gauze may be put into small wounds to fill out a gap in the tissues.

One of the most common types of plastic operation is to remove a hump on the nose. This is done by removing a portion of the jaw bone on each side.

Wrinkles, folds and pouches in the skin may be obliterated or eliminated for a period of three or four years by cutting out a varying amount of skin tissue. Following the operation, the skin is tight, but a natural expression is regained after a few weeks.

Many persons who engage in athletics, particularly boxing and wrestling, may develop what is known as cauliflower ears. This condition results from tearing the blood vessels and the formation of blood clots. In the elimination of these cauliflower ears, the blood clots must be removed and the ears reshaped.

Such a protrusion cannot be corrected by pressure from a bandage or a cap. An operation is necessary to overcome this condition.

Protruding Jaw

Another common operation is that to correct a protruding jaw. This is done by removing a portion of the jaw bone on each side.

Wrinkles, folds and pouches in the skin may be obliterated or eliminated for a period of three or four years by cutting out a varying amount of skin tissue. Following the operation, the skin is tight, but a natural expression is regained after a few weeks.

Household Hints

If you use muriatic acid to clean your brick fireplace, the proportions are one part of muriatic acid to 10 parts of water. Wear rubber gloves while doing the cleaning; apply the acid with great caution for yourself and your woodwork.

Work on a small area at a time, and be very sure to rinse well.

takes about four hours to get soft candles throughout hardened and able to rest softening or best to get nondrip candles. These

LIFE must be pleasant for the woman who has plenty of time, who has her appointments with the girl at the beauty shop just so often, has her head washed, hair set, and finger nails groomed to the limit of perfection. But all women are not that lucky. They're busy as bees, can sneak away only occasionally when grandma or auntie is willing to take care of the kids. They are driven by duties but must keep their nails in form. They should know the routine, learn how to make a good job of it. The results may not be precisely the same as when professional treatment is given, but claws will be clean and they will shine.

Remove the polish, but do not wash your hands until the nails are filed. Molt nails may bend, be difficult to shape.

Use a long, flexible file of high grade steel, working from sides to centre, being careful not to saw into the flesh. Pass the orange wood stick under the eaves, then have a second filing on an emery board. So far, so good.

Two light applications of the glowing veneer will last longer than a single heavy one, will be less likely to go patchy. Let the first one dry before putting on the second.

Whether or not the eaves should be left white and the half moon revealed at the nail base is a matter of taste.

As it is more difficult to paint them that way, the average woman will cover the entire areas.

The housewife should use mild soaps for dishwashing and laundry work. Harsh ones are not only tough on the skin surfaces of the hands but they make the nails thick and unlovely.

ST. LEGER MEETING OPENS

Swallow Tail Moves Up To Joint Favourite

London, Sept. 7.—Swallow Tail, which finished third in this year's Derby, was made an equal favourite at 4 to 1 with Lone Eagle at the Victoria Club callover on the St. Leger meeting.

Swallow Tail, one of the earliest favourites for the race, lost his place when he was easily beaten by Lone Eagle in July. There was a fair amount of business done tonight and 14 horses were given separate quotations, 100 to 1 being available about the remainder.

Musidora, winner of the One Thousand Guineas and the Oaks, maintained her position as the second favourite and was harder to back. The price available about her was 8 to 1, which is half a point shorter odds than could be obtained on Monday.

QUOTATIONS

The prices were:

4 to 1 Lone Eagle and Swallow Tail.

8 to 1 Musidora.

10 to 1 Krakatoa and Royal Empire.

100 to 9 Peter Flower.

100 to 8 Unknown Quantity.

20 to 1 Marvell.

22 to 1 Dust Devil and Ridge Wood.

33 to 1 Barnes Park.

40 to 1 Grey Tudor.

66 to 1 Mon Chateau and Boissons.

AGA KHAN IS PLEASED

Doncaster, Sept. 7.—The Aga Khan and his son, Prince Aly Khan, were present at the opening of the four-day St. Leger meeting here today and saw their brilliant colt, Palestine, fly Fair Trial out of Unn, easier away with the big two-year-old event, the six-furlong Champagne Stakes.

Palestine, now unbeaten in six races, has won £10,050 prize money for his owner.

Today, ridden by Gordon Richards, he gave the few intrepid backers who laid odds of 1 to 9 on him all the running to win eight lengths from Sir Humphrey de Trafford's 9 to 1 chance, Donore, with the 33 to 1 shot, Trumper, half a length further away, the last of the three.

Praising Palestine, who took one min. 14-2/5 secs. to cover the distance, the Aga Khan said: "He is the best two-year-old I have ever had."

It is understood that the Aga Khan, who won the Gimcrack Stakes with Palestine last month, will be in India at the time of the Gimcrack Club dinner.

The Aga Khan will write the speech, which will be read by a prominent member of the Jockey Club.—Reuter.

ALYCIDON OUT FOR DONCASTER CUP

London, Sept. 7.—Lord Derby's four-year-old Alycidon, the greatest stayer in Europe and unbeaten this year, will endeavour to set the seal on his fame by winning the Doncaster Cup, to be run over two miles and a quarter at 2.30 p.m. at Doncaster tomorrow.

He will have five opponents. They are: Aldandro (no jockey yet), Aldborough (Gordon Richards), Harlech (E.C. Elliott), Spam (F. Barlow) and Amirs (E. Smith).

Alycidon will be ridden by Douglas Smith, who rode him when he won the Ascot Gold Cup and the Goodwood Cup earlier this year.—Reuter.

Baritone Walter Cassel, in New York, finds weightlifting a rewarding exercise. He also excels at boxing and golf.

Kiwis Begin
Last Match
Of Tour

Scarborough, Sept. 7.—The New Zealand cricketers began the last match of their tour here today against a strong XI brought together by H. D. Leveson-Gower, which by the close of play had scored 348 for the loss of five wickets.

Joe Hardstaff, the Nottinghamshire batsman, played brilliantly on the easy pace pitch against a moderate New Zealand attack and was the top scorer of the day with 123.

He batted two hours and 40 minutes and hit 14 fours.

Len Hutton maintained his consistent form by scoring 54 and so raising his season's aggregate to 3,334 and surpassing the previous best for a Yorkshireman, 3,330, by Herbert Sutcliffe in 1932. Now, only Denis Compton, Bill Edrich and Tom Hayward have larger figures to their names for a season.

Reg Simpson, also of Nottingham, also scored 54 with a six and six fours compared to nine fours by Hutton, while Tom Graveney, of Gloucestershire, hit up 46.

RECORD CROWD

The match attracted one of the largest crowds ever seen on the North Marine Road ground.

The gates were closed with about 20,000 enthusiasts enjoying the cricket.

Graveney batted nearly three hours for 48 before being bowled.

Hardstaff then claimed 92 out of the 138 added by the third wicket and with Fishlock he scored so freely that 54 runs came in half an hour.

Hardstaff was caught deep behind leg. Another good catch in the deep disposed of Fishlock, but Yardley and McIntyre raised the total to 348 for five by the close.

TRIBUTES

Hove, Sussex, Sept. 7.—A bronze casket containing the ashes of Sir C. Aubrey Smith, the veteran film actor and former England cricketer, which was brought from California, was today placed in the family tomb in a corner of St. Bernard's Churchyard, Hove.

Apart from a simple bunch of pink carnations, without any description, only two floral tributes were placed on the tomb—one of which was a beautiful floral cricket bat, from a cricket club of which Sir Aubrey was a Vice-President.—Reuter.

BEN HOGAN'S "POWER GOLF"

16.—Judge Carefully With The Irons

Pride will inspire most golfers to do a certain amount of practice work on their tee shots and their putting, but the same gents will let their iron play deteriorate without giving it a thought. Yet, iron play is every bit as important to them as an ability to hit a tee shot straight and to putt accurately because iron shots are the accuracy shots of golf.

By that I don't mean to imply that you don't have to be accurate with your wood clubs. You do. The difference lies in the fact that the margin of error for iron shots is less than for your wood clubs.

Iron shots are also the offensive shots of golf. That's because it is impossible to score a course consistently well without hitting good iron shots. I say that in spite of the fact that I have seen many low scores posted without the aid of good iron play.

Whenever that has happened, however, it has invariably been done the hard way by means of phenomenal putting. Maybe you can offset your errors in iron play technique with good putting for an occasional round or two, but never over a period of time. Ability with a putter is a great asset, but it can't compensate for faulty iron play indefinitely.

FROM THE FIRST TEE

Good golfers attack a golf course right from the first tee shot in order to put themselves in command of the situation as soon as possible. On the other hand a faulty iron player must immediately go on the defensive, avoid as many errors as he can and rely on his short game for any help at all in cutting down his score.

Hitting a good iron shot is more difficult than hitting a good wood shot. The reason for this is the ball must be contacted properly with a blade of the club and the blow struck with a sharpness of impact that is never experienced with a wood club.

If there is any great difference between an iron shot and a wood shot it is that an iron shot is definitely a sharp hit while a wood shot is swung and the ball swept off either the tee or the turf. Since the iron swing is shorter than that used in playing a wood shot because the length of the shaft of an iron club is shorter than that on a wood and because the ball must be contacted on the downswing, the action of the body and the hands must be speeded up considerably.

THE APPROACH

Summing up the approach to iron play, let me say that the only variations you will have to concern yourself with are the stance and the length of the swing.

Naturally, while you are playing the various iron clubs

BY WILLIAM E. MCKENNEY

VERY often I repeat that the most important lesson to learn in bridge is to count your tricks. I want to modify that statement and say you must learn to count your opponents' tricks, as well as your own.

Today's lesson hand brings out that point very well. South has the opening lead. He heard his partner bid diamonds, and in spite of that, the opponents went to three no trump. His first problem is, should he open a spade? Definitely not. He does not have any top cards in that suit.

In the second place, it looks as if his partner put in the diamond bid only to direct a lead, in case the opponents did get into a no trump contract. The question now is which diamond should South lead? It might help to drop an honour card in the opponent's hand later on in not leading the king. Therefore, I believe South should open the four-spot.

His partner will play the ten and East lets him hold the trick. North returns the queen of diamonds. East plays low, and here is where the lesson comes in.

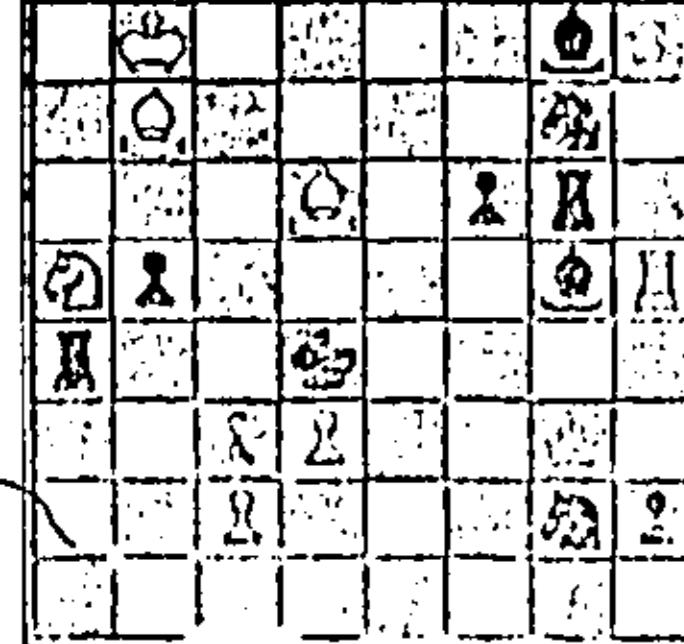

Count those tricks. If declarer has the ace of clubs, he will have five club tricks, a diamond, a heart and two spades, making a total of nine tricks, enough for his contract.

If South lets the queen of diamonds hold the trick, North will continue with another diamond, and now when South rolls in with the king of clubs, he will not have a diamond to return. He should overtake the queen of diamonds with the king and return a heart, gambling that North holds the king of hearts. If he does not have the king, South has not lost anything by this play. However, if North does have the king, the contract will be defeated, as North and South will make two hearts, two diamonds and a club.
